INSPIRING PEOPLE OF PORT CITIES

DO YOU WANT TO SHAPE THE PORT CITY OF TOMORROW?

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION CITIES & PORTS

THE ONLY WORLDWIDE NETWORK OF PORT CITIES

At AIVP – the International Association Cities & Ports, we shape the sustainable future of port cities. With over 30 years of experience, we've built a strong international network where cities, ports, and businesses collaborate on innovative solutions for the challenges of today and tomorrow.

By joining AIVP, you're not just becoming a member, you're becoming part of a global movement driven by shared values and practical action.

WHY JOIN US?

With our holistic approach, our experience in european and international projects, and our continuous research into new approaches, we focus on: helping our members turn ideas into actions.

Whether you're launching a new project or looking to scale up existing initiatives, AIVP gives you the tools, contacts, and inspiration to go further.

More than 190 members trust us — including Barcelona, Los Angeles, Le Havre, London, Dakar, Venice, Montreal, Vancouver, San Diego, Valparaiso, Antwerp, Busan, Paris, Durban, and Sydney.

AGENDA 2030 BY AIVP

Co-created with UN-Habitat, our Agenda 2030 is a tailored framework based on the UN's 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), specifically adapted for port cities.

We offer:

- 10 actionable goals
- A guide of international best practices
- A self-assessment tool to track your progress on a regular basis
- Customized benchmark studies to fast-track your strategy

We encourage you to use it as a compass to help you advance towards your strategic goals.

ÉDOUARD PHILIPPE

President of the AIVP
Mayor of the City of LeHavre (France)
Former Prime Minister of France

“Our objective is clear: to ensure that our port cities thrive and set an example in terms of their environmental footprint. We are determined to think and act collectively without delay.”

ALBERTO CAPPATO

Vice President of the AIVP
Director Innovation Development and Sustainability of Porto Antico di Genova, Italy

“We, the City and the Port, must constantly imagine new ways of living together, because we share a common goal of establishing a solid and lasting relationship with our citizens.”

WHAT

"By joining the AIVP, we aim to forge connections and dialogue with other ports, cities, and organisations that will give us food for thought and help us create the right tools to develop our activities for the benefit of the community."

Port of Baie-Comeau (Canada)

"Having the backing of organizations like AIVP gives us an opportunity to extend the scope of all the initiatives that we are carrying out. Also, it allows us to draw on support and experience, helping us to create high-impact projects."

Port of Valparaíso (Chile)

OUR MEMBERS

"As an AIVP member, we hope to share and trade knowledge and best practices within the AIVP network that will help us improve, enhance, and build new relationships, locally, nationally and internationally."

Port of San Diego (USA)

"In the face of climate change, we need to build a city capable of adapting and protecting the most vulnerable. We also need to invent a new future shared with the port, designed for and with its residents. The AIVP offers us an ideal framework for thinking about a port city that is resilient, supportive, inclusive and open to the Mediterranean and the world."

City of Marseille (France)

THINK OF US

"By learning from each other's best practices and focusing on positive examples of urban recovery, our active participation in the AIVP network will support our strategy towards the creation of a new way to 'plan the port with the city'."
